To Customers of
Warner Plumbing
From 1993 through 1995

The Office of Consumer Protection for Montgomery County, Maryland filed a lawsuit against Warner Plumbing and several other individual defendants ("Warner Plumbing") for violating the Consumer Protection Act. Montgomery County accused Warner Plumbing with operating a reward incentive program from 1993 through 1995 in which service technicians received a "bonus hour" for each hour of service a consumer was charged in excess of the fair market charge/time for the service. In the course of the litigation, Montgomery County documented that Warner Plumbing maintained a list of consumers which stated how many "bonus hours" each consumer was overcharged.

Warner Plumbing has paid $1,146,221 into a restitution fund for payment of litigation and administration expenses and to make payments to the consumers they overcharged. Restitution payments will be made to consumers who were overcharged for the bonus hours and who file an approved Claim Form.

Warner Plumbing's records show that you were overcharged the following bonus hours: XX

To receive a share of the restitution fund, you must file the Claim Form below no later than March 27, 2007. If your claim is approved, you will share in the restitution fund with other claimants based on the number of bonus hours you were overcharged as a percentage of the total bonus hours charged for all approved claims.
